

3 Local Women Try Skydiving

Skydivers

Three HopeSource staff members skydived together in Aug. 25 at the Snohomish Airport. From left are HopeSource's homeless shelter manager Carmelita Barrett, CEO Susan Grindle, and energy assistance program manager Lisa Charles. (Contributed by Patrick Grindle)

Posted: Tuesday, September 25, 2012 1:30 pm

For THE DAILY RECORD |

Three staff members from HopeSource, a nonprofit human services organization, can check an item off their bucket lists after doing a tandem skydive from 13,500 last month.

HopeSource's CEO Susan Grindle, homeless shelter manager Carmelita Barrett and energy assistance program manager Lisa Charles did the skydive at the Snohomish Airport on Aug. 25. The women were instructed by coaches with Skydive Snohomish.

Gindle said the three of them always wanted to skydive.

"It was a way for us to get to know what it's like to do something on the edge together and come back and talk about it," Grindle said. "It was just incredible."